Lean Forum 2022

Great to meet, greet and interact with 200+ Lean Thinkers during two days in October at the Lean Forum in Gothenburg. Key take aways was the importance of continuous leadership training, stakeholder management and the application of Lean in R&D. Instead of a physical flow the value stream in R&D consists mainly of a information flow. Focus in R&D is to ensure to have the right information, at the right time, at the right amount, and visualized right in order to make the best possible decisions during the development process.

Some of the trainings we delivered:

- together with Psykoloppartners, our uniquely combined Lean & Organisational Behaviour Management two day training to the management team at a University hospital's pathology department.
- Lean Six Sigma Green Belt & Black Belt trainings for clients in different types of industries in Germany, USA and Sweden.
- Lean basics training for a client's business support department.
